ADELAIDE FESTIVAL THE LITERATI

Adelaide Writers' Week

Adelaide Writers' Week is regarded as one of the world's most significant literary festivals and a highlight of Adelaide Festival. The event is held in the historic Pioneer Women's Memorial Garden, and entry to the Garden is free to the public.

Adelaide Writers' Week aims to provide a rich, cultural experience that appeals to diverse audiences. This six-day event of public readings, talks and discussions includes writers from around Australia and the world. It attracts large attendances each year and is livestreamed to community centres, libraries, aged care homes and schools across South Australia.

Adelaide Writers' Week is committed to young readers with a Kids' Day and a day for Middle Grade & Young Adults over the opening weekend.

"Thank you so much for again putting on a brilliant event. We are so lucky to have free access to such a wonderful array of talks in a truly beautiful garden. This is my favourite event to attend out of the whole year and I absolutely love it."

- Audience feedback,

Your Support

To ensure Adelaide Writers' Week can remain a much-loved and accessible event as part of Adelaide Festival, we ask for your help to underwrite the costs of staging Adelaide Writers' Week – we need your support:

Join The Literati

Members of The Literati are invited to key Adelaide Festival and Adelaide Writers' Week events, including access to The Literati Book Club throughout the year.

$10,000+ Will help bring international authors to Adelaide Writers' Week

AWW continues to promote the best writing from around the world and present a global perspective on key issues.

$5,000 Will pay for two Australian authors to attend Adelaide Writers' Week from interstate for the entire week

The enormous audiences are open and eager to discover new authors, enabling local authors to build their existing readership and find new support.

$2,000

Will pay for a session for tween and teen readers

The incredibly popular Middle Grade & YA Day celebrates writing in all its forms, including the passionate spoken-word performance platform, Hear Me Roar.

OR

Will pay for a session at Kids' Day

Through imaginative play, improvisation and sound, Story Trove brings simple stories to life, inspiring and surprising children of all ages.

$1,000

Will help to keep Adelaide Writers' Week free and accessible to all

AWW is one of the few free literary festivals anywhere in the world, making it open to people of every age and background.

All donations are welcome and gifts $500-$999 will be recognised as an Adelaide Festival Benefactor, with your donation directed towards general support of Adelaide Writers' Week.
